Our design philosophy

“Design must change existing situations and transform them into preferable situations.”

This quote from Nobel Prize winner, Herbert Simon, is the foundation of our Design Labs philosophy. It drives our dedication and craftsmanship as we strive to build products that complement the needs and desires of our customers.

~ Frederic Beuvry, Senior Vice President, Industrial Design & Ergonomics

Our design values

You are at the heart of everything we design. Our passion for designing to your needs means that every product made by the Schneider Electric Design Labs is crafted with three values in mind.

Reliability

The best products are credible products. Safety and reliability are at the core of our design process and all finished products meet our highest standards. After all, you deserve nothing less.

Easy-to-use

Our commitment to products that are simple, clear and precise ensure that you will always find our designs are intuitive and enhance your lifestyle.

Ingenuity

At Design Labs we believe that ingenious design has the ability to improve situations. With every design, we strive to break the mold and offer our customers something original and unique.

Dedicated to design excellence

The Schneider Electric Design Labs bring together industrial designers from the best art and design schools in the world.

In 2010, the Schneider Electric Design and Ergonomics team consisted of four designers in Grenoble, France. Today, we are thirty, with offices located across the five continents. Our aim is to craft design that is globally distinctive, yet culturally accurate for consumers across the globe.

From the simplest of switches to complex operational systems software, we design reliable, easy-to-use and ingenious solutions to improve the way our customers manage and automate their operations. At Schneider Electric, we call this Life Is On.
